The successful candidate must be committed to a progressive team-oriented environment in construction management and construction engineering technology programs with an emphasis on teaching (9-12 hours/semester), student recruitment and industry engagement. Successful candidates are expected to: 1) assist with advisement, 2) assist with recruitment, 3) assist with student organizations, 4) be active in professional organizations, 5) pursue scholarly / grant / private funding / applied research activities, 6) assist with appropriate construction related workshop/seminar activities. Primary teaching assignment may include courses in basic theory of structures, concrete/wood/steel structures, temporary structures and foundation/soil structures. Current computer competency is required.

Qualifications:

- Degree (BS) in Construction/Civil/Architecture (engineering, eng. technology, management, science, etc.) or a closely related area required.
- Graduate degree in Engineering, Engineering Technology, Management or closely related area required for tenure position. Consideration will be given to exceptional candidates without a Masters degree (with an initial appointment at Instructor). Doctorate preferred.
- A minimum of five (5) years construction/engineering/architecture or closely related experience required. We are seeking applicants with actual construction related experience not just consulting experience.
- Professional registration (PE) required.
- Record of professional society (AGC, NAHB, AIC, ASCE, ASEE, ACI, etc.) engagement/involvement preferred.
- University or college teaching experience preferred.

The anticipated starting date is August 13, 2018. Rank of Assistant Professor. Salary commensurate with experience.
